

JUSTICE (and humor) FOR ALL

(A monthly humorletter) June 1998

This humorletter contains both clean original humor as well as clean bits of humor that have found their way to me via Email. Many times the original author is unknown so if you read something here that you find very funny it's OK to assume that I wrote it. You have my permission to reproduce and distribute any items you'd like as well as the entire humor letter just so long as you are doing it for free and not for profit.- Enjoy!

Proofreader Wanted

SEEN DURING A CONFERENCE: For anyone who has children and does not know it, there is a daycare on the first floor.

MESSAGE ON A LEAFLET: If you can not read, this leaflet will tell you how to get lessons.

IN A LONDON DEPARTMENT STORE: Bargain Basement Upstairs.

IN AN OFFICE: Would the person who took the step ladder yesterday please bring it back or further steps will be taken.

ON A CHURCH DOOR: This is the gate of Heaven. Enter ye all by this door. (This door is kept locked because of the draft. Please use side entrance)

Humor and Training Tip #20

To get participants back into the room on time I hang a "Doggy Alarm" on the door handle and activate it at the designated start time. Anyone opening the door after that will set off the barking alarm.

It gets lots of laughs the first time it goes off which is usually the last time it goes off. It's a fun way to take the angst out of dealing with the chronically late.

Humor Tip #19

When ex-Secretary of State, George Schultz was abroad he would end his memos to President Reagan with a joke. He knew that if the President commented on the joke he had read the message. This took the stress out of having to check up on his boss. Humor will get your company newsletters read, by all!

Ad-Libs for Speakers and Trainers

When someone pokes their head in the room, say...
"I thought you weren't bringing the pizza till noon!?"

Before you make an obvious point, say...
"Now at first this is going to sound like a blinding glimpse of the obvious."

Handing out literature, say...
"These handouts don't make much sense so they'll help you remember how confusing I was today."
